WRONG, BUT CANDID

The Montreal Gazette is naturally, characteristically, traditionally and decidedly displeased with that portion of the speech from the throne which pledges the government to the early completion of the Hudson Bay railway. That project, it says, is "either commercially feasible and advantageous or it is otherwise." If otherwise, lines of money will be thrown into a sink hole, while if feasible and advantageous "to prime grain growers, we shall see the deficits of the National Railways mount the commerce of the St. Lawrence and its ports diminish."

It has taken the Gazette a good many years to get into that candid frame of mind, but at last the cat is out of the bag. It is opposed to the Hudson Bay railway because, until the thing is a flat failure, it will take traffic away from Montreal to the advantage of those whose industry and investment create that traffic. The railway is short-sighted and mistaken, for if the Hudson Bay railway is of enough advantage to the western farmers to seriously divert grain trade from Montreal it will induce a similar settlement and development in the West that will more than compensate the eastern metropolis for that loss. Montreal will be ruined by the loss of the source of wealth production in that part of Canada which lies west of it, and never can be. The Gazette is as wrong as it is frank.

A CHANCE FOR RECIPROCITY?

Signs multiply that sentiment in powerful quarters in the United States is developing into a demand for the removal of the duty against Canadian cattle. The republic is out of the market as an exporter of cattle. The feeders of the middle states complain that they cannot get a sufficient supply of stockers for their feed lots. The consumers in the large centres complain that they do not get enough beef for their money. The remedy for both grievances is the removal of the duty against such free cattle. This is a strong enough to compel action there is good reason to suppose. When it attains that strength the battle will have to continue, and the movement of cattle southward, which used to be such a conspicuous feature of the stock business in Alberta, will be resumed.

To secure the results desirable in both countries, the free admission of Canadian cattle would have to be guaranteed by a treaty running for a number of years. Canadian stockmen would hardly agree to plunge into a war of production of cattle in large numbers for the United States market without assurance that that market would be available when they had made the sacrifice. And unless they did so the U. S. feeders would not get the cattle they require to turn their own crop to account.

There is a suggestion in this situation that Washington might not be averse to considering another reciprocal trade arrangement, perhaps not so comprehensive as the one which Canada has recently turned down fourteen years ago, but providing for the free admission of our cattle for the republic in return for concessions in proportion to any cost to them, and the Dominion Government were to sound Washington as to how a proposition of the kind would be received there.

AN ENVIEABLE YEAR'S RECORD

Shareholders of the Dominion Bank, at the annual meeting held recently in Toronto, were presented with a statement of the year's business which will earned net profits of $1,000,000. This was a record for the bank, which was received. The record for the twelve months was one of increased deposits, increased profits, and an increase in liquid assets. The amount carried forward in profit and loss account is the largest in the history of the institution. With a paid up capital of $6,000,000, the reserve fund and the undivided profits now amount to nearly $8,000,000.

The confidence of the public in the bank was reflected by the growth in deposits during the year, amounting to $1,000,000,000, or $100,000,000. The Dominion now has in keeping more than $90,000,000 of deposits, many of which are in time deposits, drawing interest.

The management has always made a point of keeping a large part of the bank's assets in form readily convertible into cash. In that respect, too, the statement of the bank is in a stronger position than ever before. These "liquid" assets now amount to more than $71,000,000, or 62.5 per cent of the total liabilities to the public, against $60 per cent a year ago. There was during the year an increase in the total assets of over five millions, making the aggregate at present $100,000,000.

The bank holds Dominion, provincial, municipal and other securities worth more than $25,000,000. The earnings for the year showed that the bank had taken an active part in financing the business of the country. That the funds were well employed is reflected in the increased profits gained. After making full allowance for bad and doubtful debts the profits were $1,000,000, an increase over those of the previous year. From this a dividend of twelve per cent was paid the shareholders, plus a bonus of one per cent. And after paying taxes and all other claims there was carried forward $964,236.16.

With its already strong position this bettered in every particular, the Dominion is catered upon the new year well equipped to meet the needs of its increasing number of customers, and to play a large part in the carrying on of the industry and commerce of the country.

OUR DAILY POEM

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE NOBLER MAN
I have within me treasures of dreams,
Of visions of beauty I should like to see,
And through them arises the man I'd like to be,
A figure, greater than my body seems.
Who waits untroubled by life's turbulent streams
As though his soul were one and passion free.
As clean and rugged as an ancient tree.
While on his face the light of glory gleams.
There stands the vision of yourself, I say,
There is the man you could be if you dared.
Like him, untroubled, you could walk life's way
And set a high example, if you dared.
But still my nobler side is heavy weighted
With petty notions and I think—afraid!

Do You Remember?

FORTY YEARS AGO

From the Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday, January 30th, 1886.

The program for the next meeting of the Literary club includes songs by Mr. Ellis and Mrs. Howard, a reading by R. S. Brown, an exhibition of sword exercise under direction of Sgt. Major Bradley, and a debate on the question "Is the settlement of the North West beneficial to the eastern provinces?" The attraction will be maintained by M. McAuley, J. A. McDougall and Fred Ross; the negative by J. Hogarth, R. Strachan and Harry Robertson.

Jack Inkster cut his leg severely on Wednesday last week while chopping steambark wood on the river at the mouth of the Vermilion Creek, about twenty miles below Ft. Saskatchewan. The axe being frozen, the time he was stuck to it, and he was compelled to pull away pieces of the flesh with the axe. He then sent his only companion, a young son of Geo. Donald, to Ft. Saskatchewan for a horse to take him home. The boy froze both feet badly before getting back to camp. Inkster reached his home on Friday, when it was found that the wounded foot had been frost-bitten.

W. F. Bredin arrived from Calgary on Tuesday. He spent the past two years in the mountains along the C.P.R. line and now proposes to settle as a rancher on the Bow river. The mountains are practically deserted this winter but a large force will be required in the spring to clear the line, fit for travel and finally complete it.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

From the Edmonton Bulletin, Thursday, January 30th, 1906.

The annual meeting of the Ft. Saskatchewan agricultural society took place on Saturday the 25th inst., and was the largest gathering of representative farmers and ranchers that has ever been held in northern Alberta. The following officers were re-elected: F. Fraser, Tins, M.L.A., honorary president; J. L. Port, president, Wm. Walker, first vice president; Hugh Irwin, second vice-president; J. P. Forbes, secretary-treasurer, and a good district.

The question of provincial autonomy was discussed at the above meeting, and a committee was appointed consisting of F. F. Tins, F. Marigay, J. P. Forbes, J. L. Port, R. H. Hardisty, and others. The object and work in conjunction with the headquarters of the movement at Calgary. The speakers were Messrs. Port, Fraser, Tins, Fraser, Marigay, Forbes, Irwin, Walker, Montgomery, Hamilton, Hardisty and others.

The latest from Athabasca Landing is that no oil will be found there. At the moment there is 85 per cent of salt in the well being drilled. An offer has been received from an expert to go down a thousand feet for nothing unless he finds oil at or within salt distance, in the Ft. Saskatchewan district. He is positive that oil can be found within a radius of 20 miles of Edmonton.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Daily Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday, January 2nd, 1906.

It is reported that the G.T.P. has also purchased the right of way from the city to the west end of the proposed bridge at Clover Bar. Ottawa—The G.T.P. Branch Lines Company will apply at the next session of parliament for authority to build branch lines in the western provinces, to connect with the transcontinental.

Winnipeg Free Press—Winnipeg yesterday extended a glad hand of welcome to a party, some ninety six in number, of the Empire Builders of western Canada, hailing from Edmonton, and the sister town, Strathcona and other centres in central Alberta.

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Morning Bulletin, Thursday, February 2nd, 1916.

Official reports indicate little activity on any of the battle fronts.

Regina and Saskatoon are facing a fuel shortage, which threatens to become a famine.

Ottawa—The debate on the Address occupied thirteen days, the chief topics of discussion being the proposal to extend the life of the present Parliament one year.

HOW YOU CAN FORGET AN ERROR?

What can I do to get rid of the recollection of a thoughtless, heedless action of which I now am so much ashamed? This question is asked by a woman who is tortured by the memory of an unpleasant experience.

Most of us have experiences which are a source of regret.

If these experiences are profitable to the extent of bringing a reformation of them, they have served a good purpose.

An infraction of any law of nature or principle of morality or honor, is bound to leave a scar, but if it results in checking more serious violations, good may come out of it.

To the person who has reformed, to the one who is in a resolution to make life exemplary—there should not be constant regrets.

Keeping the unhappy picture vividly in mind is a loss of life and peace. It is not a sensible thing to do.

With the decision to make amends there should be a generous feeling of liberality to good deeds. Through simple acts of kindness to others the bitterness of the past can be forgotten.

Got Him at Last

Uncle Sam: "All right, brother, I'll go along peaceable."

DR. FRANK CRANE'S EDITORIAL

A GREAT LOVE

MIE SORREL, the French star, says that Mrs. Duse before her death confided to her the nature of her great love for D'Annunzio, the Italian poet and dramatist.

With most of us our emotion is so great that we invariably feel resentment when we are disappointed. Duse, however, when D'Annunzio left her, no bitterness dwelt in her heart.

And that even in her agony she blessed the great soul that had breathed life into her.

She appreciated the fact that this man touched in her unusual springs of affection and won her heart as no one else had done.

She was proud of the emotion this created in spite of the treatment she received from him.

To her it was a greater privilege to love than to have loved returned.

How many of us appreciate the full value of affection and that it is a great privilege to love whether we are loved again or not.

What love did he say she explained: "If my voice touches the heart strings of my hearers it is the echo of his voice which thrills them."

It is a little difficult for ordinary mortals to appreciate this attitude of mind.

UNCOMMON SENSE

—BY JOHN BLAKE—

EMERGENCIES

There is a story of an inmate of an insane asylum who instead of sitting down at his cane like his fellows when they were allowed to smoke themselves in the yard, used to run at top speed, around and around the buildings.

"Let him alone," said the superintendent. "He only works off his superfluous steam, and he certainly can't hurt anybody."

But one day the gate was left open by accident, and the inmate slipped through it. That was the day of the emergency, and none of the guards was able to catch him before he had disappeared.

He was not seen again, and he made him an excellent runner.

It is not always possible to be methodical in this line of madness, and the story is one that can be put to rest with a good deal of satisfaction.

There are many handrun and unhandrun jobs in life. Sometimes they fill them for long if he at the same time picks out the better job and learns how to perform it.

It is not always possible to be methodical in this line of madness, and the story is one that can be put to rest with a good deal of satisfaction.

There is an occasion from the heart in genuine hospitality, and it is not always possible to be methodical in this line of madness, and the story is one that can be put to rest with a good deal of satisfaction.

Such was the disposition of the old man, who could never be made to see young men waiting their turn to fill them.

But nobody of intelligence need fill them for long if he at the same time picks out the better job and learns how to perform it.

Sunshine Shafts

Client—"Didn't you make a mistake, going into law instead of the army?"
Lawyer—"Why?"
The other—"You charge, there would be little left of the enemy."

"Who is that Indian?" asked a winter tourist of Zouf.
"That, sir, is old Chief Cut Plug."

"That, sir, is old Chief Cut Plug."

Preserve Natural Beauty

DOCTORS today agree that half the ills they are called upon to remedy arise from neglect of the teeth and could be prevented by proper care of the mouth and frequent visits to the dentist. . . . To preserve the natural efficiency of the mouth—and consequently the state of radiant health which depends upon this—it is to reduce the harmful part of the beauty of youth. For there is nothing so attractive in the physical personality as a free and unembarrassed smile displaying a sound tooth equipment. . . . My patients retain this attractiveness, for my "Nature Teeth," matching the originals of nature herself, enable them to bite, chew and smile in perfect confidence and comfort.

"Nature Teeth" This is my name for my scientific and common sense replacements of nature's own teeth. They are no more expensive than ordinary and unattractive "false teeth."
